NEWS FROM OUR FRIENDS ON THE CORRECTIONS COMMITTEE ...

The AA corrections committee would like to sincerely thank you for your service work in all areas of corrections. Your time and effort is invaluable! If you are no longer taking meetings behind the walls, have moved or are not interested in receiving this email please reply with a request to delete your address from our list.

The Corrections Committee is working very diligently to provide communication and information between AA and the agencies as well as the inmates we serve. We could really use all of your support at our corrections monthly meetings.

PLEASE NOTE! We have changed our monthly meeting to the 3RD SATURDAY of each month (from the 2nd Saturday). Our next meeting will be Saturday, July 18th from 9:00-10:00 am at Sacred Heart Catholic Church, 21st and Pikes Peak. We provide the coffee and everyone is welcome to bring a snack (donuts, bagels, etc) to share.

We are taking the committee to a whole new level now that we are at the district level. We will now officially have a budget to cover our expenses. We are in need of a committee treasurer with at least a few years sobriety to track our expenses and keep us on track with our budget. If you are interested, please indicate so via email and we can determine a treasurer at the next committee meeting. All interested persons should be in attendance at that meeting.

The Corrections Committee is in need of a sub-committee of 2-4 people to plan our 2010 workshop. If you are someone that, due to criminal history, cannot take meetings behind the walls, we would love to introduce you to service work on our committee. The committee meetings are only an hour, one Saturday morning per month. We discuss guidelines for taking meetings behind the walls, how to get literature into correctional facilities, how best to recruit people to take meetings behind the walls and what people in correctional facilities need in a meeting behind the walls. This is why it is so valuable to have former inmates at our committee meetings and attending our workshop.

FEEL FREE TO PRINT THIS EMAIL AND SHARE WITH YOUR AA GROUPS!

Please consider attending our next meeting Saturday, July 18, 2009. Hope to see you there!!

2009 Annual Founders Day Picnic

Home Group PlayShop

This years Annual Founders Day Picnic was held at Monument Valley Park from 2-5pm on Saturday June 13, 2009. There was lots of food, fun, and fellowship had by all. From the kids playing on the playground to the pets (dogs) running around in the pond, it was a great atmosphere for all to bring the family out for some good clean fun or for old friends to reconnect.

There seemed to be a broad range of sobriety with a good mix of newcomers, old-timers and all in between. It was a great opportunity for newcomers to experience the AA community, fellowship, and life. It was also a chance for them to meet new sober people that don't have to drink to have fun.

There was plenty of food for all with the tasty side dishes and scrumptious desserts; the grill was going from start to finish with burgers and hot dogs.

The speaker at the meeting was Curt N. and then afterwards tickets were drawn and people came and shared randomly (call-up meeting).

Thanks for all who participated in making the picnic a success.

I look forward to seeing everyone again at the 4th of July Picnic at Antlers Park on July 4, 2009 from 12-4pm.

District 26 sponsored its quarterly PlayShop, Friday night May 29, 2009 at Holy Apostles Church.

The Happy Hour group was on hand to share their Experience, Strength and Hope, as it relates to the Home Group. Recovery, Service and Unity was the theme of the discussion.

Happy Hour home group members shared a bit about their history, sponsorship of trusted servants, the importance of and how to conduct a group inventory and how important having a home group is to their personal sobriety.

In addition to the Happy Hour Group, home group members represented Young People's Group, Into Action and the Last Chance Group!

The PlayShop was well attended; there were probably 30-40 people in attendance. Free food was enjoyed by everyone. The topic discussion was followed by a round of everyone's favorite PlayShop Pastime ...

AA Trivial Pursuit.

By the time the PlayShop was over, the message was clear. If you don't have a Home Group, get one! Information on the next District quarterly PlayShop will be forthcoming in July.

Step 7

Humbly asked Him to remove our shortcomings.

Step 7: A Lifetime Supply

Coming into AA and finding the acceptance and love I'd sought in a bottle was a relief beyond description, but reading the Steps was a shock. Fortunately for me, my home group did not hammer the Steps into newcomers. Rather, they talked a lot about the Slogans and the need to not drink a day at a time. I needed that.

During a discussion of Step Seven, I made the statement, "If my shortcomings and character defects are removed, there will be nothing left!" I need not have feared. What I've learned since then is that I have more than a lifetime's supply of character defects. My Higher Power and I can't get rid of them all in my allotted time on this earth.

More importantly, I've learned that if I simply let go of a character defect--release it--my Higher Power will replace it with a character asset. As I release anger I find that I am friendlier. As I release hate I become more loving. As I release fear I become more secure. I don't have to go out looking for friendliness, love, security, or any other trait that I desire. I just have to give up the feelings that are manifestations of my character defects and the good automatically flows into my life. . . . And I used to think that I would become hollow without my character defects!

So, how does it work? Daily. On a daily basis I choose not to drink--or to fear, hate, be angry, or indulge in any other defect that's raising its ugly head. They're all there waiting, and when given a chance they charge into the center of my life and try to take over. But when I work Step Seven I find that my life is filled with good, and people actually like to be around me--something they never did in my drinking days.

C.

Promise 7

Self-seeking will disappear

To feel that our life is useless or has no purpose, so long as there is one single human being who might be relieved by our bounty, or helped by our counsel and loving kindness, is about as senseless as dying of thirst while we hold a full cup of clear pure; water in our right hand.

Concept 7

The Conference recognizes that the Charter and the Bylaws of the General Service Board are legal instruments: that the Trustees fully empowered to manage and conduct all of the world service affairs of Alcoholics Anonymous. It is further understood that the Conference Charter itself is not a legal document: that it relies instead upon the force of tradition and the power of the A.A. purse for its final effectiveness.

Concept Graphic from Southbay AA .org website

Tradition 7

Every A.A. group ought to be fully self-supporting, declining outside contributions.

1. Honestly now, do I do all I can to help AA (my group, my central office, my GSO) remain self-supporting? Could I put a little more into the basket on behalf of the new guy who can't afford it yet? How generous was I when tanked in a barroom?
2. Should the Grapevine sell advertising space to book publishers and drug companies, so it could make a big profit and become a bigger magazine, in full color, at a cheaper price per copy?
3. If GSO runs short of funds some year, wouldn't it be okay to let the government subsidize AA groups in hospitals and prisons?
4. Is it more important to get a big AA collection from a few people, or a smaller collection in which more members participate?
5. Is a group treasurer's report unimportant AA business? How does the treasurer feel about it?
6. How important in my recovery is the feeling of self-respect, rather than the feeling of being always under obligation for charity received?

AA Thought for the Day

Personal Defects

I think I've usually been able to make a fairly thorough and searching job of finding and admitting my personal defects.

So far as I know, there isn't a single defect or current problem of mine which hasn't been discussed with my close advisors.

Yet this pretty well-ventilated condition is nothing for self-congratulation. Long ago I was lucky enough to see that I'd have to keep up my self-analysis or else blow my top completely.

The Last Word

Humbled By Humor

After seventeen sober years, one deeply engrained shortcoming remained. I decided to try really hard . . . for the umpteenth time. On my knees at bedtime I was ready to pray. I had planned all the usual heavy-duty mea culpas, replete with guilt and shame, pleas for forgiveness, promises to pray for those this shortcoming had harmed, apologies for not letting go, praises ad infinitum for my God's great mercy on this terrible sinner --err, shortcomer --and a very long grocery list of things I wanted to say to God, ending, of course, with the usual half-hearted request that he remove this shortcoming of pride and lust.

An epic Step Seven prayer. Maybe later in life, I thought, I would reprint it as an aid to newcomers.

I began.

"Lord, I'm imperfect but if I ever get to heaven, you can make me perfect." And just when I said "perfect," something happened.

Involuntarily, I passed gas.

Shock at flatulence in the presence of God!

I laughed. More shock at my laughter! I laughed some more. I laughed and laughed until tears streamed down my face. I tried to begin my prayer again but still laughed. "God, thank you for humor. Good night," I said, collapsed onto the bed, and laughed myself to sleep.

Now that the puritans and censors have ripped out this page and left in a huff, let's continue.

Since that night, God has removed this shortcoming. The connection? Humor unlocked the door. We only laugh about things which are dear to us. That's why so many jokes are centered on sex, politics, and religion--our most precious relationships with our family, our fellow man, and our God. Humor is a great sign of recovery and healing, and until we can laugh at our past, we will not recognize our imperfections or be humble. "Humor" and "humility" both have the same word ancestor.

My favorite quote from the Big Book is this: "First of all, we had to quit playing God." I apply it to each Step. In Seven, I present myself to God as human, halfway between heaven and hell, neither a god nor a devil. And I ask, expecting an answer, that he remove "any defect of character which stands in the way of my usefulness to you and my fellows." I don't ask him to remove shortcomings which will make me perfect. I will die with several shortcomings, which means I will die human--and, I hope, humble and humorous.

The Big Book warns us that "we are not saints." My friend, the Akron archivist, told me she's someday going to write a treatise entitled "Character Defects of the Saints." We need to be reminded that our character defects keep us humble and dependent on God.

"H" words surround Step Seven and me. I'm "home" in Seven. You have to have a home before you can leave it. Which, to me, means I cannot enter the outside world of non-AA in Steps Eight and Nine, unless I'm at home with my god and myself in Step Seven. Home is a place where I can always be myself, a sober alcoholic. If there's no home. I'm lost, drunk.

The most popular AA prayer --"Help!" --is what I ask God for in Step Seven. Not "Help me remove" but just plain "Help." We ask and God answers: Yes, No, Maybe later, Only these. For years, I refused to recognize God's "No" concerning my long-term deep, dark shortcomings. Over the past six years, he has blessed me with over thirty pigeons so apparently that defect didn't prevent him from using me to do his bidding. And, of course, the majority of those newcomers were just riddled with my shortcoming. God has a sense of humor!

Well, folks. Step Seven begins "Humbly asked" . . .but lately, for me it starts, "Humorously ask. . ."

Years ago, a Grapevine contributor used the wonderful phrase "the whisper of humility." I pray you hear it in Step Seven. And I pray you also hear God's laughter.
